Meanwhile Lida finds herself in love with Andrews and tells him so, but is repulsed. Ralph Clark, Andrews' secretary, has been dispatched to Lida's apartment to notify her that Andrews has been defeated. While there they are confronted by Lida and later by Andrews.
A series of accusations ensue. Andrews disappears and is found dead the next day. Lida attempts suicide, but is saved by Clark's interest and devotion. Some months later we see them happily married.

BOILING JELLY OVER LITTLE BOY

Charles Markle, Little Adams County Boy, Fatally Burned when he Tilts over Kettle of Preserves Dies after Terrible Suffering.

As the result of scalds received on Saturday, Charles Herman, the 2 1/2 year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Markle, of Union township, died after many hours of intense suffering on Sunday at his home.

The child's mother was preserving peaches and had a large kettle of the fruit on the stove to boil. She left the kitchen for a moment, and was summoned back by the piercing cries of the child, who had reached up to the stove and, catching hold of the edge of the kettle, upset the contents of the vessel. The scalding fluid was poured over the little fellow's body, burning the flesh in a frightful manner.

The mother removed the child's clothing immediately and did all in her power to alleviate his sufferings. Dr. C. A. Keagy, of Hanover was summoned and upon his arrival he gave prompt treatment, but had little hopes of recovery.

After lingering until 3 a. m. Sunday, the little child died, casting a deep gloom over the home and the entire community.

Besides the child's parents, an elder sister survives.

Funeral Wednesday, Sept. 17, from the house, Rev. J. H. Hartman officiating at the services. Interment at St. Bartholomew's cemetery.

He was born and reared on the farm near Mont Alto, which has been in the possession of his family since it was granted by William Penn, and there spent practically all of his life except the time he attended the institution in Baltimore that is now Johns Hopkins university.

He was married to Lucy Chambers, December 17, 1872, and she survives him, as do two children; Joseph Chambers George and Mrs. Ellis E. Foust, Chambersburg.

Mr. George was a member of the Falling Spring Presbyterian church.

WILL ORGANIZE TO BUILD HOMES

Plan Fifteen Thousand Dollar Corporation for Purpose of Erecting a Number of Dwelling Houses for Town Residents.

A movement is on foot among a number of the business men of town to organize a corporation for the purpose of erecting dwelling houses in Gettysburg, to supply a need which has been felt for some years.

That the town is on the move and must have accommodations for more families is evident. Our industries call for more laborers, and we understand that many new people would come to Gettysburg, if houses were provided. We are also informed that several families have removed from the town for the reason that habitations could not be secured.

We are told by Mr. Reaser, manager of the Reaser Furniture Company, that his company recently desired to add a new feature to their business which would have employed seventy-five to one hundred men, but that it was found impracticable to do so on account of the scarcity of dwellings.

Mr. Oswald, superintendent of the Auburn Shale Brick Co., tells us that he was compelled to close down his plant this summer because he could not get sufficient hands and that he is running now with about half as many men as he could profitably employ. He also tells us that he would have no difficulty in getting families from other parts to come here, if houses were available.

The plan is to start with a capital stock of $15,000 divided into 300 shares of $50.00 each, to purchase real estate and begin the erection of houses as soon as may be practicable at such places and at such cost as the Board of Directors shall determine. It is believed that not only will the interest of the town and all of our business people be advanced, but that fair returns will be made to the stockholders.

The capital stock will be raised by popular subscription, and it is desired that men in business of every kind become interested, the project being for the purpose of general advancement in the town's business affairs.

During the last several years thirty-five to forty new dwellings have been erected yearly, but these have been largely by parties who were providing their own homes. The demand for properties at moderate rentals has not been met. The need at this time is thought to be for at least forty houses to rent at about $10 per month, to be sold or leased, as desired, and this number should be erected in the near future if the town is to continue in the growth and improvement which has been going on for the past six or eight years especially. The improvement is normal, gradual and substantial and promises to continue. Our one and great need is for dwelling houses to accommodate our enlarging population and to meet the requirements of our industrial institutions.

MET ALL PROMISES

GREAT INTEREST IN LINCOLN DAY

Plans Suggested for Observance of Fiftieth Anniversary of Lincoln's Address. Many Local People Heard him Make it.

Encouragement from every quarter has followed the news of a plan to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, and County Superintendent Roth is receiving a number of suggestions as to the best manner in which to conduct the exercises. A number of local citizens have responded to the request for names of those now living who heard Lincoln and there promises to be a score or more present on November 19 when the occasion is observed.

One of these is Mrs. Louisa S. Wisler, of Cumberland township, who recalls distinctly the parade to the cemetery site and having shaken hands with the President at the dedication. Mrs. Wisler also marched in a parade celebrating Lincoln's first election to the presidency and was one of a number of girls representing the states that gave him majorities. She is the last of these girls to be living. Mrs. Wisler's maiden name was Louisa S. Young. She is very anxious to attend the celebration in November but is in poor health and fears she cannot do it unless she is greatly improved.

G. W. Weaver, S. D. Reck, Mrs. J. H. Baker, Dr. T. C. Billheimer, Dr. P. M. Bickle, John E. Pitzer, James E. Weaver, and Mrs. Sallie Weaver all recall the various occurrences of the day and some of them took part in the parade. James Weaver rode with Secretary Stanton, while Dr. Billheimer and Dr. Bickle were in the line of college students that brought up the rear of the parade. There are likely many others about town who were present and every effort will be made to get a complete list at as early a date as possible.

Among the plans suggested for the observance of this anniversary is the securing, for an address, of Clark E. Carr, of Galesburg, Illinois, who is the last surviving member of the commission appointed to purchase the ground for the cemetery site. Mr. Carr, though advanced in years, is an interesting speaker and has been engaged quite recently to make Lincoln speeches.

Another idea advanced is to have present Mrs. Christian, the author of "The Perfect Tribute" and other books dealing with the life and character of the Great Emancipator. With the general interest being shown it is most probable that exercises of exceptional interest will be afforded.

CORONER'S VERDICT

Blame Western Maryland for Inadequate Protection at Crossing.

All the expectations of a first class attraction in "Within the Law" were more than met Monday evening when the play was presented here for the first time before a fair sized house. It was decidedly one of the strongest shows that Gettysburg has ever had and deserved a full house. The success of the play hangs almost entirely upon the ability of Miss Aline McDermott, who plays the part of "Mary Turner", and her interpretation of the part seemed almost faultless to Monday evening's audience. Oliver Hinds, who plays the part of Eddie Griggs, the stool pigeon, is a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. The local chapter occupied boxes and, during the evening, presented to Miss McDermott a large bunch of roses tied with the fraternity colors. Later in the evening the entire cast was entertained by the fraternity in their rooms in the Star and Sentinel building on Baltimore street.

The coroner's jury empaneled at York to investigate the death of Mr. Elmer found that the Western Maryland Railroad did not have adequate protection at the grade crossing where the accident occurred, and from the evidence produced showed that the crossing bells did not ring.

BUSINESS OF COUNTY COURT

One Put on Probation, Another Given a Month's Jail Sentence. Divorce Granted. Other Current Business Transacted.

At a session of Court held on Monday Charles Peterson was placed on probation for a year and John H. Jones, colored, was given thirty days in jail.

Peterson was arrested on a charge of practicing veterinary medicine without a license. It was preferred by Dr. E. D. Hudson, for the State Board of Veterinary Medical Examiners. Peterson pleaded guilty and was put on probation for twelve months, also paying the costs.

Jones is the colored man who interfered with Officer Emmons while he was trying to stop a fight at the Western Maryland station on the day of the big excursion. Judge Swope administered a month's sentence.

Mrs. Nellie Cason was given a divorce from Brooks Cason, desertion being the ground, on which the decree was asked.

Henry Moul and C. L. Livingston were appointed school directors for terms of six years in the Conewago Independent District.

The first account of Mrs. Mary C. Bair was confirmed absolute.

All the advertised accounts were confirmed.

The Butler Township road case was argued and decision reserved.

ANOTHER MARKER

Marker to Stewart's Battery Erected on Monday.

The erection of the last marker to Stewart's Battery was finished on Monday. It is of the same design as the other monuments of granite and bronze, erected under the direction of the National Park Commission, and is located along the Chambersburg Pike at the position the battery occupied. The inscription on the monument reads:

"July 1. In position about 200 yards south of the Theological Seminary until 3 p. m. when ordered to support Brig. General J. C. Robinson's Division, First Corps, and took position on Seminary Ridge, one half the Battery below the Chambersburg pike and Railroad cut, the other half north of the cut in corner of the woods was actively engaged. The Battery afterwards retired with the troops to Cemetery Hill and went into position on the Baltimore pike opposite Evergreen Cemetery commanding the approach from the town two guns on the Pike and two in the field, two having been disabled. Casualties killed 2 men wounded 2 officers and 29 men missing 3 men. Total 36."

Another tablet was erected on the Baltimore Pike some time ago.

SEMINARY OPENS

Forty Six Students Enrolled at Opening of Seminary.

Seminary opened this morning for another year's work with an enrollment of 46 students, of which number twenty are new men, the majority from the class which was graduated from College last June.

The regular opening services were held at ten o'clock in the Chapel and after an opening prayer and an address of welcome by the president of the faculty, Dr. J. A. Singmaster, the main address of the morning was delivered by Dr. T. C. Billheimer. Quite a number of out-of-town ministers and graduates of the institution were back to welcome the new students and be present at the opening exercises.

The enrollment by classes is as follows: Juniors 20; Middlers 18 and Seniors 8.

Quite a number of improvements have been made to the buildings and grounds during the past summer and, at present, a new cement walk is being laid from Springs avenue over to the dormitory on West Confederate avenue, which will be a big improvement over the cinder path which heretofore has been used along the side of the avenue.

THE Trinity Reformed Sunday School will hold an ice cream festival and social at Edgar Faber's residence, Chambersburg street, Thursday evening, Sept. 18. The public is invited.—advertisement 1

PATTERN AFTER ADAMS COUNTY

So Urges Philadelphia Paper in Editorial over Apple Situation in the East. Calls Attention to Last Week's Convention here.

The Philadelphia Press says in an editorial:

"Pennsylvania is by nature a great apple-growing State and the orchardists who met last week in annual convention at Gettysburg wish to restore its former importance as a producer of that fruit.

"Apple growing in almost all the Eastern States has been treated as a by-product of the farm. Apple production was never the chief thought and interest of the farmer. The business is suffering now from competition with the far West, where apple growing is made a specialty and the care of the trees, the picking and shipping of the fruit are under careful and scientific management. To meet the competition of the Pacific Coast States the Pennsylvania apple growers need to study and adopt some of the Pacific coast methods.

"The San Jose scale which desolated so many orchards in this State seems to have spent its force. The vigorous spraying which the State Agriculture Department has insisted upon has done a good work. To replace the trees destroyed new trees should be planted. They should be of the varieties now most in demand and the trees should be made to grow low, as in the West, with a view to easy picking of the apples and treatment of the trees. Anything like a bruise on an apple means a short life for it. They should be handled as carefully and transported as cautiously as eggs and shipped with as high quality of apples in the middle or bottom of the barrel as at the top.

"It is these methods and features that make apples lasting and insure them a ready market. Adams County in this State has gained a high reputation for its apples and the whole State can profit by the experience of the successful growers in the immediate vicinity of the present orchardists' convention."

COMING CONFERENCE

Affiliation With Methodists Will Be Taken Up.

There is much local interest in the 116th annual session of the Pennsylvania conference of the United Brethren church which will meet at Greencastle, October 8 to 12, Bishop W. M. Weekley, of Harrisburg, presiding. The conference comprises more than 100 ministers and lay delegates, who will be present.

Within the bounds of the conference there are about 20,000 members—included in sixty churches.

Probably the most important question to come before the conference is that of "Church Union With the Methodist Protestant Church." This question has been before the conference several times. It has been acted upon by the general conference and referred to the other conferences for their action.

FEDERAL BUILDING

Five Months' Time for Completion of the Work at Post Office.

Of the bids submitted for the completion of the new federal building, that of Darby and Pierce was the lowest, being slightly over $30,000. The contract has not yet been awarded to them but, if their bid is considered satisfactory, they will be given five months in which to complete the work or until about March first. Darby and Pierce had the contract for the erection of all the temporary buildings used at the fiftieth anniversary camp.

While plowing on his father's farm, near Tomstown, Clarence Blubaugh, a son of Irvin Blubaugh, uncovered a large Spanish silver coin, bearing on one side the legend, "Carolus III, Del Gratia, 1797." On the other side it is recited that he is king of Spain and India. The coin is as large as a silver dollar. A hole was drilled through its rim.

GIRL PRIEST SLEW SAID TO BE MOTHER

New York Police Search For Body of Child.

INSANITY IS HIS DEFENCE

Murderer "Trusts to God and Abraham," but Tells Chaplain He Wanted to "Drink Her Blood."

New York, Sept. 16.—Coroner Feinberg learned that twenty-year-old Anna Ammiller, the girl who was murdered and whose torso was found floating in the Hudson river, had become a mother before she was murdered and her body dismembered by Father Hans Schmidt, a curate of St.
Joseph's Catholic Church, who is in jail here.

Schmidt, who confessed to the crime admitted having improper relations with the girl, and told the police that she soon would become the mother of a child. Investigation by Feinberg, however, convinced him that the child
had been born to the girl before Schmidt slew her on September 2 in the little flat that he had rented for her.
The authorities believe that Schmidt buried the baby alive, and began digging in the neighborhood of the flat where the girl was murdered in the hope of finding the baby's body.

Schmidt, in his cell was calm and defiant. He refused to see reporters, and when one of them sent a note to him requesting an interview, Schmidt sent back the following written reply: "I don't think you will understand me. There is no use talking about it."

An examination of Schmidt's mental condition was made by the Tombs physician. Other examinations will follow as it is believed that Schmidt is mentally unbalanced. Acting District Attorney Nott said that any efforts to prove that Schmidt was insane when he killed the girl will be combated vigorously. Nott declared that the man was sane, and that the motive for his act can be shown without a doubt.

Schmidt's defence at his trial—if he makes a real defence—probably will be insanity. Alphonse Koelbe, his lawyer, so announced, after a long talk with Schmidt, in the Tombs.

"I shall move to have Father Schmidt's case moved to trial at the earliest moment possible," said Mr. Koel-be. "If I then think that he is insane
I shall ask to have a commission appointed to determine his mental status. If I think he is sane, I will tell him that the only thing to do is to stand up like a man and pay the penalty."

"When I saw him he said: 'I do not need your services. Let's not talk about that now. Let's wait till God and Abraham have spoken. God and Abraham will communicate with you and tell you when to come to me.
Don't do anything till that time.'"

Mr. Koelbe said his client was fully aware that he faced the electric chair.
Rev. Father Luke J. Evers, chaplain of the Tombs, after an hour's talk with the self-confessed murderer said:

"I asked Schmidt why he had murdered the girl. He said: 'I was commanded by my patron, St. Elizabeth of Hungary, to offer a sacrifice. Like the sacrifice of Abraham, it must be one of blood. St. Elizabeth also told me that in order to consummate the sacrifice I must drink some of the blood of the offering. So I killed Anna Ammiller, and after I had done so, drink some of the blood in order to consummate the sacrifice.'"

In the hope of branding him an im-poster and pseudo priest, church authorities began a sweeping investigation of Schmidt's record and his pretensions or ordination.

The murdered girl was a Hungarian about twenty years old, who had come to New York two years ago to better her condition. She had worked as a domestic in two places—the rectory of St. Boniface's church, 2d avenue and 47th street and in a residence on Riverside Drive. It was while employed at the former place she met and entered into improper relations with Schmidt, then a priest of the parish.
In February the couple obtained a marriage license, the priest giving his name as John Schmidt. Schmidt told Inspector Farot he had performed the ceremony himself, being a priest, and in her ignorance the girl evidently felt no fear when Schmidt established her in a meekly furnished flat at 63
Bradhurst avenue, where she was slain and dismembered by him.

NORMAN MACK DEFIES SULZER PROBERS

Fails to Appear, But Brings $5000 Libel Suit.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 16.—Norman E.
Mack, former chairman of the Democratic National and State Committees, failed to appear before Judge A. Hennessey, Governor Sulzer's special investigator, to answer charges of having failed to account for money contributed to him in the gubernatorial campaign of 1910.

Mack, through his secretary, served Hennessey with summons and complaint in a $5,000 action for libel.

Mack complains that Hennessey has caused to be published "charges in effect that the plaintiff unlawfully appropriated to his own use money contributed by others as a campaign fund toward the election of John A. Dix as governor of the State of New York, and said publication also charges in effect that the plaintiff blackmailed individuals and corporations in connection with the collection of campaign funds."

Sulzer Witness Missing.

New York, Sept. 16.—Frederick L.
Colwell, of Yonkers, regarded as a star witness against Governor Sulzer
as his forthcoming trial on impeachment charges, has disappeared, according to announcement by the Assembly board of impeachment managers.

"Information in the possession of the board is to the effect that Colwell is absenting himself from the juridiction of the board as the direct instigation of the Governor and for the purpose of avoiding testifying against the Governor at his trial," reads a lengthy statement issued on behalf of the board by Aaron J. Levy, its chairman which adds:

"Colwell can shed much light upon these Wall street transactions. This is well known to Governor Sulzer.
Where is Colwell? Will Sulzer aid in accomplishing his return?"

Testimony adduced by the Frawley investigating committee was to the effect that Colwell had purchased 200 shares of railroad stock last fall with eight checks sent by contributors to Governor Sulzer's campaign fund, the personal check of Sulzer for $900 and currency amounting to $7,125. Levy added that a country-wide search had been made for Colwell recently without success.

has been held under $5,000 bail on the charge of felonious homicide in connection with the death of Miss Florence Wainwright, the pretty bookkeeper for the Hoe Gas Company, of which Smith is manager, is a free man.

The Grand Jury announced a true bill had not been found. The Court immediately discharged the twenty-three jurors, who have been investigating the case for a week.

Smith's bondsman was released.
The failure of the Grand Jury to find a true bill is looked upon by many as exonerating Smith.

At his home Mr. Smith would make no statement except that he knew nothing of the death of Miss Wainwright. Since he was held by the Coroner's jury he has maintained a dignified silence.

Explosion Kills Eight.

six more were injured by the collapse aret S. Hultz, five years old, set fire to her frock while playing with matches at her home, 1215 North Taylor street

lege Hospital.

PRETTY PARTY FROCK

WHITE CHIFFON MOST APPRO-PRIATE FOR SMALL GIRL.

As Much Attention Given to the Details of Children's Wear as to That of the Grown-Ups—No Fixed Waist Line.

No more than in grown-ups' is there any lack of variety in wearing apparel for children. Coats, frocks, hats —each shows interesting little touches, writes Cora Moore in the Washington Star.

Children of all ages are wearing their skirts unusually short just now, while as for the waist line, it may be anywhere above or below the normal waist line, for the use of the normal line has a tendency to make the figure look older, and the chief characteristic of any frock between four and sixteen year sizes should be its youthfulness.

Chiffon seems hardly suitable for children's frocks, even for wear at the most pretentious parties, but fashion, not always discreet, insists upon introducing it for their small ladyships this year; and, since that is so, here is a delightful little model that can be made up quite inexpensively:

The skirt, gathered with a two-inch heading at the high waist line, has two three-inch tucks run around it, midway of the length. It opens down the front and has a small curved slash above the knees with a tiny bit of draping caught up under the entire.

White Chiffon for a Little Girl's Party Frock.

eling of delicate pink chiffon roses
that top the hem.

The roses are also used about the waist instead of a sash, though in back there is a flat bow with long ends of azure blue ribbon.

The blouse is very simply made on the peasant variety, with a round neck and elbow sleeves finished with plaited lace ruffling. The sleeves are set into dropped armholes and finished with a corded seam. Some of the fall-ness in front is draped up under two tiny blue satin bows and there are two more set along the outside of each sleeve.

BRIEF FASHION NOTES

Cubist designs are seen even in some of the new corset models.

The black and white combination in footwear continues to be liked.

The crown dent is a smart feature of the new felts for country wear.

Chamois yellow is one of the colors seen among girls' topcoats.

Nothing equals white chinchilla for the fashionable sports coats.

Gold and green is fast coming to be one of the favorite combinations.

All lace underwear is distinctly in the mode. Frequently such garments are made over net.

The newest collars on the fall coats are fastened up high at the neck to allow for cold weather.

Draped coats are liked for dress wear; simple, straight cut garments for general utility purposes.

Coat chains are being made of beads; steel intermingled with cut coral are favorites.

The most fashionable corset simulates the uncorseted figure. Stiff or constrained lines are a thing of the past.

Beads Tone White Costumes.

Inexpensive glass beads can be worn to give the right tone of color to the all-white costume. Opaque beads are sold in chains sufficiently long to go about the neck and drop in a V-line in front—a line which is artistic and much more becoming than the round neck line—for prices varying from 50 cents to $1.50. These beads come in various shades of green and are especially effective in jade color. They are also sold in yellow, red and blue.

For Tight Shoes.

Summer is the season above all others
when one's shoes seem to hurt, and this year one looks in horror at the rows of patent leather ones that are brought out in the exclusive shops, but true, these may be worn with comfort if one will shake a little powder of alum into the toe of her shoe before going out. Do not put it inside the stocking, merely inside the toe.

Lay your plans to grow the bulk of the feedstuffs on the farm this year.
Buying much high-priced feed cuts
into the profits.

BELGIAN FARMS ARE SMALL

National Law There That Results in Holdings Less Than an Acre in Size.

An outstanding feature of the Belgian farming is the small size of the farms. More than half of the Belgian farms are less than an acre in size.

One cause of small farms in Belgium is a law prohibiting the leaving by any man of all his property to one child, declares Wallace Farmer. It is required that the property be divided among his children. Of course the children can agree to hold the land intact, but in practice the result has been a great subdivision of the land.

The average acre of Belgian land rents for a cash rent of about $10, but there is some share renting, the agreement being half and half, and the landlord to furnish half of the fertilizer.

The average value of the Belgian land is now about $300 an acre, pasture land averaging a little more than this and cultivated land a little less.
Eighty years ago Belgian land was worth just half this much.

Why is Belgian land so high? It is not so fertile as much of the land of England or Germany, yet is more valuable because there are some half million Belgians who have the ability to make $300 land bear interest on the investment. They are able to do this because they work hard and are satisfied with little. Another reason for the high price of land is the keen competition for it. Because of the small pieces into which it is divided land is constantly on the market and there are always farm hands and renters who are eager to own a piece of land for themselves, and so the price is bid up to the limit.

Novel Orange Jelly.

Mix together two tablespoons of gelatine with a large cupful of orange juice, one orange peeled and sliced very thin, the juice of one lemon, two cupfuls of sugar and one pint of boiling water. Let it stand after mixing it well until it is cold. Then strain it and store in the beaten whites of two eggs. The latter give a pretty and frosty effect to the jelly.

To Preserve Flowers.

Dip the flowers in melted paraffin withdrawing them quickly. The liquid should only be hot enough to maintain its fluidity, and the flowers should be dipped one at a time, held by the stem and moved about for an instant to get rid of the air bubbles. Fresh flowers, free from moisture, make excellent specimens.

A sow can be kept too long, and often many of us keep some old thing
a year too long.

SHADES FOR ELECTRIC LIGHT

Pretty Paper Affairs Can Easily Be Made—Flower Patterns Much in Favor.

Green cartilage paper should be cut into a circular shape with a small circle cut from the center and a section cut from the side, so that when the ends are joined it will make the shade conical-shaped. Next, before joining the pieces, draw a pattern upon the edge, cutting it out with a sharp knife, practically making a stencil pattern. This is venetian paper work, and if one is provided with a very sharp knife, manicure scissors and a small stiletto the work can be quickly done. The idea is to have the design perfectly smooth. Back this with a medium thin red paper, using a thin paste to join them together. Photograph paste is excellent for this purpose, and a roller is helpful in smoothing the papers.

Do not bend the paper to form the cube shape until the paste is dry. Roll it gently to prevent it from breaking. Join the edges and trim the lower and upper edge. If there is no brass globe support upon the electric light bulb it will be necessary to make a wire triangle across the top of the shade. Remove the bulb, place the shade over it, replace the bulb in the socket and the shade is secure. For patterns there are flower patterns and the conventional stencils.

Fish may be scaled much easier by dipping them for a moment in boiling water.

The old-fashioned, natural pongee should be ironed rough dry or while still slightly damp. Sprinkling is very apt to spot it.

Glassware that has been washed in warm, soapy, blue water and dried in warm sawdust will have all appearance of the real article.

If moths have attacked a carpet, work powdered borax into the carpet wherever there is a sign of the insects, and scatter it under the furniture.

For vinegar, save all peelings from fruit; boil in enough water to cover, strain and set aside unsealed to ferment. Rinse out all emptied jars and pour the rinsing into the vinegar jug. The vinegar will be a fine amber color, sharp and pure.

When washing cream wool or cotton goods, instead of using bluing, try putting the water in which a few onion skins have been boiled in the last rinsing water. This is much brighter and cleaner than the cream color made by coffee, often used.

Wash and dry flannels as quickly as possible if you wish to keep them soft and white. Faded blue hair ribbons may be freshened by allowing them to stand in strong blue water a few minutes after being washed and ironed with a warm iron.

A towel rack with the three arms placed on the inside of the closet or wardrobe will be found handy to place the neckties on. They can be easily selected without hunting through the box. A board about twelve inches long, into which brass hooks have been screwed, can be hung on the door and used for belts or strings of beads.

Old-Fashioned Cake.

Into a dish put one cupful of sugar and one and one-half cupfuls of flour sifted with one rounding teaspoonful of baking powder. Into a measuring cup put the whites of two eggs, add butter till the cup is half full and then fill it full of sweet milk. Beat five minutes and bake in a loaf tin in a moderate oven. Frost it with white icing sprinkled over with some of the red and blue sugar our grandmothers used on the Christmas cakes of old-fashioned days.

Cod Au Fromage.

Mix one cupful of cold boiled macaroni, broken into short pieces, and one cupful of cold boiled codfish and put into buttered baking dish. Take a piece of butter half the size of an egg and lay it on in bits, with a pinch of salt and a dash of pepper. Moisten with about a half cupful of milk, cover with fine bread crumbs and sprinkle three tablespoonfuls of grated cheese on top. Bake until brown.

Dried-Up Cheese.

A good way to use up cheese that has become dry is to grate it, add a piece of butter, and cream if you have it; to moisten it stir with a fork until it becomes creamy and you will have something delicious. If you do not have cream, milk will do.—Christian Science Monitor.

Cream Tea Biscuits.

Sift one quart of flour with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one teaspoonful of salt. Mix to a soft dough with sweet cream, roll thin, cut into tiny biscuits and bake in a quick oven.

Calves Liver Dumplings.

One pound minced liver, one-half pound goose grease, yolks of eight eggs, four ounces soaked bread, salt, pepper, nutmeg, parsley, small fine onion and mushrooms, whites of four eggs beaten stiff. Bake in pan.

EXPLAINS THE MERMAID MYTH

Sailors Mistook the Seal or Sea Calf for Mythical Creature They Thought They Saw.

Of course there are no mermaids such as have been depicted to us by imaginative artists for many centuries—mythical creatures, half woman, half fish, with long waving tresses—but it is interesting to note that more than half the ancient pictures of mermaids depicted the creatures sitting on a rock in the sea combing their long hair and locking into a small hand mirror.

Where did man get the idea, that mermaids possessed combs and mirrors? At first one might think it evolved through the belief that mermaids (man once believed they existed) all possessed long hair, and, possessing it, naturally did what all women do—combed it.

And because women have always used mirrors—even the prehistoric women used pools of water for this purpose—these old artists gave their painted mermaids mirrors and combs.

But this is not true. It was no supposition on the part of the old artists. They made their pictures from the description that thousands of old sea-faring men gave, men who actually believed they had seen mermaids. And these men frequently quite as solemnly avowed they saw the mermaids with combs and mirrors.

Not the least strange part of all this is the fact that many of these old sailors really believed they had seen mermaids. There is no doubt that they saw seals, or, more likely, the sea calf. This peculiar creature has a habit of half raising its body out of the water. Away back in the olden days, when there were few sailors and they had not sailed far in any quarter of the globe, the sight of a sea calf was a strange, weird thing to them. The sea calf does not look unlike a human being half raised out of the water.

NOT MEANT TO BE SERIOUS

Comparative Harmlessness of French Duels is Largely a Matter of Arrangement.

A large proportion of the duels in France end without bloodshed. When the offense is not very serious it is agreed beforehand that the words of command shall be given so rapidly that the duellists will not have time to take good aim. Sometimes three shots are exchanged without a hit, and then the seconds step in and—"honor is satisfied." At the word "fire!" the pistol is raised instantly, and it must be discharged not later than the word "three," so the speed with which these words are given regulates the time in which it is possible to take aim. Therefore the speed with which they are spoken is agreed upon beforehand, this depending upon the seriousness of the duel. The words are timed with a metronome. If the encounter be very serious this is set at the slowest speed, 80 beats a minute, which gives time for taking accurate aim. A speed of 140 beats a minute allows no time for aiming, and, therefore, is used when the seconds consider the duel should be made as little dangerous as possible.

Rural Life, the Nation's Hope.

I warn my countrymen that the great recent progress made in city life is not a full measure of our civilization, for our civilization rests at bottom on the wholesomeness, the attractiveness and the completeness, as well as the prosperity of life in the country. The men and women on the farms stand for what is fundamentally best and most needed in our American life. Upon the development of country life rests ultimately our ability, by methods requiring the highest intelligence, to continue to feed and clothe the hungry nation; to supply the city with fresh blood, clean bodies and clear brains that can endure the terrific strain of modern life; we need the development of men in the open country who will be in the future as in the past the stay and strength of the nation.—Theodore Roosevelt.

Pebble Industry in Normandy.

The pebble industry is becoming quite important in upper Normandy, France. The cliffs of the Caux region, undermined by subterranean springs and by the waves of the English channel, slip, fall and break. They are formed of a calcareous mass containing flints. These flints fall to the bottom of the sea, where they become flat and take an ovoid shape.

Their color is blue, spotted with brown, yellow or red stripes. They are used to manufacture concrete, stone and earthenware, and their dust is even employed to make paint and rice powder imitation.

Over 120,000 tons of pebbles are annually picked up on the Normandy beaches. Most of it is sent abroad.

Queer Translations.

When the Bible was translated into Japanese, an equivalent to the word "baptize" could not be found, and the word "soak" had to be used instead, so that the Japanese Biblical students are acquainted with a person named "John the Soaker," and with a doctrine of "soaking for remission of sins." In that case the ministrations are due to inadequacy of language. A school boy once rendered "Miserere, Domine" into "Oh, heart-broken schoolmaster!" And another recovered from German the text "The spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak," in the form, "The ghost of course, is ready, but the meat is feeble."

Always Ready.

It appears that there is always a mysterious woman waiting for the married man who wishes to wind up his career with a joy-ride.—Chicago Record.

POINTERS ABOUT THE HAIR

Cleanliness is Most Important Factor in Keeping Scalp and Hair in Healthy Condition.

Some doctors say it is nerves that are killing American women's hair so that they have to purchase an extra supply. To a certain extent the nerves are greatly responsible for many disturbances of the whole system. Sudden emotions create sudden shocks which naturally strike the weakest part of the body. I am of the firm belief, however, that a great deal of hair is destroyed by dust. Ordinary dust that sifts into every pore of the skin and settles all through the hair as a woman walks along the streets is bad enough, but it isn't a circumstance to the dust that she gets in a short motor run unless her head is covered with a veil.

It is always advisable to shake the hair well after a long auto run. If possible, brush and lift the hair by tossing it about out in the open air. If this treatment is followed by a vigorous brushing it will do the hair a world of good.

Use a soft brush and brush at the edges of the hair well. This removes the dust, which is more or less gritty, from killing off all the new hairs that are growing along the edges and prevents the old ones from breaking and making scolding locks. And it helps to preserve the hair line. When this is broken and in bad shape the contour of the face is spoiled. All artists claim that a woman's hair is the frame of her face—the picture—and whether the hair is worn plain or dressed elaborately the entire effect is spoiled if the hair line is broken.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

LAST TOUCH FOR BUNGALOW

Selection of Appropriate Furnishings to Be in Keeping With Surroundings Important.

The finishing touch of beauty about a bungalow or summer home of any sort is the artistic. Summery-looking furniture which is found not only within doors but on porch and lawn. In selecting such furniture it will be found that nothing is more pretty and fitting than the Canton furniture which is imported directly from the Orient. It is made of bamboo and wistaria vine and its special recommendation is that exposure to burning sunshine or drenching summer showers hurts it not a whit. The chairs are of such odd and interesting shapes that they make extremely picturesque furnishings. Added to that their bases are of the so-called "hour-glass" shape so that there are no sharp legs to make unsightly digs in the lawn. The tea-tables, tabourets and magazine racks of this Oriental make are particularly good-looking.

The nicest sort of rug to use with these bamboo furnishings is the one of Chinese grass. It is also sun-proof and shower-proof and is so loosely woven that it dries very readily—a decidedly good feature for a porch rug to possess.

EVENING GOWN.

To Make a Hall Bedroom Pretty.

To make the most of a hall bedroom, have a cabinet washstand, and a folding bed, which, when closed, makes a suitable table. A small covered box, if softly padded, will make a good window seat, in addition to being a convenient article for holding shirt waists. A folding chair may be kept under the bed, to be brought forth as needed.

MAKE OLD LIKE NEW

SOME SUGGESTIONS ABOUT RE-FINISHING OF OLD FURNITURE.

Much to Be Done Before the Actual Work of Putting on the Enamel is Begun—Cleanliness Most Important.

When old furniture is to be enameled to give it a new lease of life there is a good deal to be done before the actual putting on of the enamel, and upon this preliminary preparation depends the success. Begin by giving each piece a thorough good scrubbing with hot water, soap, and a strong bristle brush. This scrubbing brings away any dirt and chips of paint, leaving a surface clean, but chipped where the bits of paint have come off. Then take a piece of fine sandpaper and rub the furniture all over with it, and it must be a really fine sandpaper, as a coarse piece would scratch and spoil the surface. Then if your furniture is to be enameled white the next step is a coat of white paint, not enamel but just flat white paint. Put this on first with a small brush, filling in all the chipped places, and letting them dry before putting on the whole coat. This will take several hours to dry, but it must be left till quite firm, first the spots and then the coat of paint. Before opening the enamel tin shake it hard, so that the contents may be thoroughly mixed, then give the enamel a good stir with a piece of stick, pressing out any little lumps against the side of the tin and getting the whole mixture as smooth as cream. For putting on the enamel use a soft, flat brush, and work always in the same direction. Put on a thin first coat, trying to use as little as possible, and be very careful not to leave puddles or thick dabs in the corners. The first coat of enamel may take several days to dry thoroughly. When it is quite dry sandpaper it over very lightly indeed and put on another coat. This second coat is sometimes not necessary; it depends on the condition and former color of the piece of furniture to a great extent, and must be judged of by the painter herself.

Closet Room.

In planning a house let the women of the family have something to say about the arrangement, number and size of the closets. They know, or should know, how much housekeeping is simplified when there is plenty of well-arranged closet room. Closets should, if possible, be ventilated and lighted by means of windows. In addition every closet in an electrically lighted house should have an electric light.

Have the linen closet fitted with shelves provided with drop fronts; have the fronts hinged by means of chains at the sides held at just the angle to transform the fronts into additional shelf room where they are dropped.

To Clean Vases.

Glass flower vases are apt to become much stained in time, especially if such flowers as mignonette and forget-me-nots are left in them for a few days without changing the water. To remove the stains few methods are better than that of placing a handful of used tea leaves at the bottom of the vase with a little vinegar, and with the hand placed across the top, shaking it until the marks have disappeared. If not completely eliminated, this should be repeated, while in addition a rag wound around a stick and pushed into the crevices will effectually remove the most obstinate stains.

Care of Matting.

Try sewing your new matting with raffia, says a writer for the Modern Priscilla. Dampen and split each strand. This will make a fine seam that will look well on either side. When laying new matting one can prevent ridges and wrinkles if, after putting down as smooth as possible, you will wash with a pail of hot water to which a cup of salt has been added. Leave quite wet and in drying the matting will shrink into place. The salt toughens it. Wash with the grain of the matting. Never sweep matting with an uncovered broom, as it will split the fiber, but cover the broom with a soft cotton flannel bag and dip in salt water to brighten it.

Sand Tarts.

One cup sugar, one-half cup butter mixed with sugar. In a separate dish put one egg, one-fourth cup sour cream, one-third teaspoon soda, a few drops maple and a pinch of salt. Mix together, then add the sugar and butter mixture and two cups flour. Roll thin and over the top spread the beaten white of one egg, then sprinkle with sugar and chopped nuts. Pass rolling pin over lightly and cut in any shapes desired. Place in moderate oven and bake, but do not let brown.

Training Vines to Grow.

It is sometimes impossible to use string to train vines up a brick wall, and in that case adhesive plaster is an excellent substitute. Cut narrow strips of the plaster and fasten over the young tendrils until they cling to the brick or plaster.

How to Keep Small Fruit Fresh.

To keep berries and small fruits fresh and sweet, put them in a glass fruit jar and set in the refrigerator. That is much better than leaving the fruit in the boxes in which it comes.

SHOWS SOME NOVEL IDEAS

Handkerchiefs for This Season Are Dainty, and Many Original Designs Are Seen.

All is astir in the handkerchief market. New samples are being received, lines for roadmen arranged and plans completed for the coming season. As usual, absolute novel ideas are few and far between, but the desired element of novelty is found in new and clever interpretations of old motifs.

The one corner idea continues to hold the center of attraction. The features of this season's productions are daintiness of the designs and their careful arrangement so as to extend up into the body of the handkerchief, instead of spreading out at each side, as in former seasons.

One-sided designs are again in evidence, and will find favor by adding the spice of variety.

The Longfellow initial won such widespread favor last season that its position in this season's lines is practically secure. Many new Longfellow designs are shown surrounded by elaborate decorations, but the simpler, daintier effects will have first place in popular esteem.

The oriental initials which made their appearance last spring are again featured, and as the oriental influence is pronounced in women's wear they should find even greater favor than ever before.

The usual big movement in simple initial handkerchiefs, both script and blocked, is expected. The dainty undecorated letters are indicated for a slight preference over the decorated ones. Among the daintiest initial numbers are those finished with a tiny Armenian lace edge.—Dry Goods Economist.

French Beefsteak.

Cut your beefsteak two-thirds of an inch thick from a fillet of beef; dip into melted butter, lay them on a hot gridiron and broil over fresh coals. When very nearly done, sprinkle with pepper and salt. Have ready some parsley, chopped fine and mixed with softened butter. Beat them to a cream and pour in the middle of the dish. Dip each piece of steak in the butter, turning over, and lay them around on the platter. Serve with lemon juice and very hot.

Cleaning Glasses.

Tumblers which have been used for milk should always be rinsed in cold water before they are washed in hot. When this is done the milk does not stick to the glass, and there is no danger of their looking cloudy.

Mexican Fishballs.

Equal parts of codfish and mashed potatoes, thoroughly mixed with cooked red beets chopped fine; mold into balls, brown in the fat of salt pork and garnish with the crisp bits of fried pork.

SERVE U. S. WRIT ON THAW CAPTORS

Federal Marshal Takes Charge of the Fugitive.

COMPLICATIONS ARE POSSIBLE

U. S. Court May Free Slayer Before New Hampshire Governor Acts on Extradition.

Colebrook, N. H., Sept. 16.—E. P. Nute, United States Marshal, arrived in Colebrook bearing a writ of habeas corpus calling for the presence of Harry K. Thaw before Federal Judge Aldrich at Littleton. With the service of the writ, Nute and Sheriff Drew, of Coos county, became joint custodians of the fugitive.

Thaw was taken to Littleton today for postponement of final action on the writ will be asked, pending the extradition hearing tomorrow afternoon.

William Travers Jerome, New York's special deputy in the Thaw matter, planned to accompany Thaw to Littleton, as did Franklin Kennedy, deputy attorney-general and Sheriff Hornbeck of Dutchess county. The Thaw lawyers desired to have argument continued in order that the writ may be available at a later date should it be found necessary to block extradition. If Judge Aldrich should insist that argument proceed it might result in the freeing of their client at once, prior to the extradition hearing.

With Thaw free again serious complications are possible. His lawyers would be acting within their rights if they attempted to rush him from the State. Jerome and his forces would of course seek to hold him. A physical struggle between factions is not out of the question and both sides will have a lot of private detectives on hand. Thaw conferred with the family representative, former Governor Stone, of Pennsylvania.

The official request of the state of New York for the extradition of Thaw was filed at the office of Governor Feltner in the State House, at Concord by Bernard Jacobs, a lawyer, of Lancaster, N. H., who was acting for the New York authorities. Governor Feltner's desk was buried beneath a pile of letters and telegrams relating to the Thaw case. Most of these messages appeared to be the result of a movement originating in Kansas to create sentiment favorable to Thaw.

Hope to Get Thaw Back to Canada. Montreal, Canada, Sept. 16.—Harry K. Thaw's Canadian lawyers have not given up hope of bringing him back to the Dominion. N. K. Lafamme, one of their number, announced in court that he and his associates still expected to ask the Appeal Court of Quebec for a decision on the constitutionality of the Immigration act in which when Thaw was hustled across the Canadian border into Vermont. If they succeeded in having the law declared invalid they would make a formal demand "through the proper channels," Lafamme said, for Thaw's return to Canada.

KILLS WIFE; TRIES SUICIDE

Philadelphia Man Was Jealous of Wife's Divorced Husband.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 16.—Harry Shappell, a steam fitter, killed his wife, Minnie, at their home, 208 N. Baltimore street, West Philadelphia, and then shot himself. He is in a critical condition.

Shappell is forty-seven years old, and it is said that jealousy of his wife's first husband, Paul Wang, led to the crime. Mrs. Shappell was only twenty-one years of age.

The slayer had been married before, his first wife having died, and in the house at the time of the shooting was his 14-year-old son, Thomas Shappell. It was through a neighbor, not through the boy, that the police learned of the shooting.

Shappell and his second wife were married two and a half years ago. It is said that Shappell observed Wang in the neighborhood and learned that his wife and her first husband were exchanging notes, and meeting each other.

Remonstrated with, Mrs. Shappell promised her husband that she would end these meetings, but later she got into the habit of leaving home on occasion, and this caused bitter quarrels.

LAST HONORS PAID "BIG TIM" SULLIVAN

50,000 Persons Struggle to Get Near Church.

New York, Sept. 16.—Timothy D. Sullivan was buried after such a funeral as few men have had.

In the streets around old St. Patrick's Cathedral, where 50,000 men, women and children struggled to get somewhere near the church, in the twenty carriages that held nothing save offerings of flowers from dozens of various societies and hundreds of individuals, but most of all it was found in the evidences of grief that met the eye on every side.

Big Tim had made life happier for very many of these. Then, too, the sadness of his last days and of his death was clear in the minds of the onlookers; that and the chance that saved from a nameless grave the man who had seen to it that so many had the last benefit of clergy, a decent burial and a proper headstone.

Perhaps 10,000 looked at the body before it was carried away to old St. Patrick's.

The honorary pallbearers were Charles F. Murphy, Edward McCall, ex-Sheriff Thomas F. Foley and ex-Sheriff Nicholas Hayes, Judge Otto A. Roslasky and Al. Erlanger, and Senator James E. Prawley and Thomas J. McManus.

Solemn requiem mass was celebrated by Mr. Kearney, the rector, a long time friend of Mr. Sullivan's. Within the chancel rail were many priests, all of whom had known Big Tim. Interment was made at Calvary Cemetery.

The two girls were playing in the picnic grounds near Excelsior when Serafin, whom they knew quite well, began to talk with them.

A young man named O'Brien heard cries for help, and with several others hurried to the spot in time to see Serafin running.

A warrant was sworn out for Serafin's arrest. He was captured on the mountains and brought here to avoid a mob in Excelsior. He was committed to jail at Sunbury.

Physicians gave surgical aid to the girls.

CAUCUS RULE IN CURRENCY DEBATE

Republicans Protest Against "Bag Law."

THE CHANGES ARE FEW

Nearly Half the Bill Has Been Read and House Leaders Expect to Finish Tomorrow.

Washington, Sept. 16.—A chorus of Democratic "noes" quickly disposed of the numerous efforts of House Republicans and Progressives to alter the provisions of the administration currency measure as agreed on by the Democratic caucus. Not a single material amendment was voted into the bill.

Nearly half of the bill had been read. At this rate the house leaders thought they might be able to finish some time tomorrow.

The debate bristled with charges of "bag laws" and "caucus rule," from the minority, with occasional sympathetic replies from the Democratic side.

Representative Mondell, of Wyoming, and Progressive Leader Murdock, devoted considerable time to pleading with the Democrats to "break the shackles" and desert the caucus pledges. Mr. Mondell became involved in a spirited controversy with Representative Stanley, of Kentucky, who had something to say about Republican caucus action. Representative Donovan, Democrat of Connecticut, joined with Representative Murdock in one of his attacks, declaring that the leaders had abandoned the currency bill to the new members of the House.

"Not more than half a quorum is here," he shouted. "They draw their pay regularly and abandon the work attached to their positions. This is nothing more than stealing."

"What could they do if they were here?" demanded Representative Murdock. "The caucus has foreclosed all action on this bill."

A rapid fire of amendments was directed by the minority against the section of the bill providing that national banks must subscribe a sum equal to twenty per cent. of their capital in the Federal reserve bank in their district. Representative Lindbergh, of Minnesota, endeavored to make the subscription ten per cent. of capital and surplus and allow the banks 120 days in which to pay one-half of their subscriptions. Under his amendment the Federal reserve banks would have been allowed to begin business as soon as the full $5,000,000 capital had been subscribed without waiting for full payment.

The amendment after a vigorous discussion was voted down, 78 to 29. Several similar amendments were defeated. An attempt was made to write into the bill a provision forbidding officers or directors in national banks from holding similar places in other national banks or in any other financial institutions. The Democrats stood by the caucus and the amendment was rejected, 71 to 44.

Another flood of amendments designed to curtail the power of the Federal reserve agent, named by the bill as the chairman of the Board of Directors and the representative of the Federal Reserve Board of the Federal reserve bank, also was defeated.

Relatives of Miss Julia Garrett Will Try to Break Will.

Philadelphia, Sept. 16.—The will of Miss Julia Garrett, who inherited the wealth of her father, William Evans Garrett, the multi-millionaire snuff manufacturer, was admitted to probate in this city. The report that the bulk of the fortune, estimated to have a valuation of $12,000,000, had been left to Isaac T. Starr, a bond dealer, who for years was the fiscal agent for Miss Garrett, was borne out by the testament which was filed.

The will also bequeathed nearly a half million dollars to relatives, a number of whom have engaged John G. Johnson, the attorney to act in their behalf in a contest they have brought to prevent the probating of the will.

A number of the cousins who have already taken steps to break the will are remembered substantially in the paper, but the bulk of the fortune will be given to Mr. Starr under its provisions. It was executed on October 29, 1902, and devises all of the estate, with the exception of several small bequests to institutions and several of a private nature, to a sister, Elizabeth. In the event of the sister not surviving the estate is given principally to Mr. Starr. The sister did not survive.

SAYS ARMY IS IN FINE CONDITION

Secretary Garrison Declares It Never Was Better.

Washington, Sept. 16.—"I don't believe the Army was ever in better condition," said Secretary of War Garrison, when he returned to his desk after an absence of two months, spent in visiting all the important military posts.

"If we are going to attract the men we want, and raise the efficiency of the army, we must have a shorter term of enlistment," said he. "I am in favor of a three-year term, with the privilege of discharge into the reserve as soon as an enlisted man proves his efficiency."

"I have not decided what the shortest period of service with the colors should be. I am in favor of discharging men as soon as they earn discharge, and as a reward for their hard work."

Garrison said he had not decided what period a discharged soldier should serve in reserve. "To make the army more attractive to the best class of men," said he, "I favor vocational training for the army, so that in addition to the military training and discipline, which a man would acquire through service, he would leave with some trade, when he goes again into civil life. Wherever I went, I found universal approval of this plan."

Garrison said he did not favor, and the country would not tolerate a large standing army. He refused to discuss the plans for the concentration of the army in a few strategic centers, rather than to have them distributed among 157 posts in unimportant locations.

"My views on that subject will be made known in orders from time to time," he added. "But I expect the fullest co-operation of congress in carrying my plan into effect."

A Royal Change of Mind

By ARTHUR W. BREWSTER

The king of Auranla had asked the king of Wertenberg for the hand of the latter's oldest daughter, Amalia, for the former's son, Prince Carl. The matter having been satisfactorily arranged so far as diplomacy was concerned, the prince set out for the capital of Auranla to make the acquaintance of his fiancée. Being averse to display of any kind, he traveled incognito and arrived at the palace without being heralded.

Passing along a corridor on his way to his room, he met a young girl from her costume might have been a governess, a reader or have occupied any of the lesser duties of one belonging to the palace. Never had the prince seen a woman who so completely struck his fancy. Princes need to be more careful of their doings in some respects, but may take greater liberties in others. Prince Carl purposely stumbled and, falling toward the girl, kissed her.

She passed on without making any protest, though her cheeks turned crimson. The prince as soon as his attention could be diverted from her saw a man standing at the other end of the corridor, looking at him with fire in his eye. Carl took no notice of this person, but entered the suit of apartments that had been assigned him.

The royal family and guests met for dinner, and Prince Carl was then formally welcomed and introduced to his fiancée, the Princess Louise. He was also introduced to her younger sister, the Princess Louise, and was astonished to recognize in her the girl whom he had kissed in the corridor. A third introduction was to Danilo, crown prince of Endinia, who he was told was a suitor for the hand of Louise. He was the man who had witnessed the kiss.

Neither Louise nor Danilo made the slightest reference to Prince Carl's transgression, nor did they ever show by their manner that they were conscious of it. This was not a matter of surprise to Carl, who was used to court ceremonial and the treatment of enemies with a studied politeness. But he knew well that he would have to answer for his bold act. How he would be punished he did not know, but since that was an age when men fought personal combats he expected a challenge.

The only person whose manner was not satisfactory to Prince Carl was the Princess Amalia. She treated him with such scrupulous politeness that it was evident she had been informed of his transgression. The day after his arrival the king, her father, sent his prime minister to say that since the marriage with the Princess Amalia had been arranged political complications had arisen that would render the match undesirable.

Upon receiving this information Prince Carl made preparations to leave the capital. On the evening before his departure an officer of the household guards called upon him to ask satisfaction on the part of Prince Danilo for an insult offered the Princess Louise. Carl referred him to a friend, and it was arranged that a meeting should take place the next morning at sunrise in an open space surrounded by trees in the royal park.

On the evening of his arrival Prince Carl had sent a courier back to his father, the king of Auranla, to say that the match with the Princess Amalia was impossible and to send posthaste a request for the hand of the Princess Louise. The reply to this, a formal demand for the hand of the younger princess, was handed the king of Wertenberg at the same time that Carl received Danilo's challenge. The king, knowing of Carl's expected departure the next day, at once called a family conclave to decide upon whether to give the prince encouragement to remain or to permit him to depart. After discussing the matter before arriving at a decision the Princess Louise was called in and the case stated to her. Should the affair with Danilo, which was being considered by the council of state, be allowed to go through, or should it be broken off and consideration be given to the demand of the king of Auranla?

"I will not marry Prince Danilo," she said. "And if Prince Carl proposes to me I will marry him, no matter what action the council may take."

Now, the princess was a young woman of considerable firmness. She laid out duties for herself to perform daily, and it was in working costume that Carl had mistaken her identity. Her father well knew that when she took a position all the king's horses and all the king's men couldn't make her change it. Without waiting to hear what he had to say further she went to her apartments for consideration, for she had got wind of the duel to take place in the morning and wished to prevent it. The result of her deliberation was a note to Danilo saying that, though she had been highly honored by his proposition, she would decline it.

This was tantamount to an order for him to withdraw his challenge, for, except for being considered an applicant for her hand, he was not called upon to protect her. Carl went to the grounds in the morning, where he received the withdrawal of the challenge.

And this is how a prince of the blood went courting a princess and married her sister.

Imagine what could be accomplished in the way of community breeding with fifty herds in the same community.
